Page 9: Section 3: Research Priorities

Q22

Priorities design: What principles could be used to determine the scope and focus of research Priorities?(See page 27 of the Green Paper for additional information related to this question)

Research should be based on the merits of the research

Q23

Priority-setting process: What principles should guide a national research Priority-setting process, and how can the process best give effect to Te Tiriti?(See pages 28-29 of the Green Paper for additional information related to this question)

Research priorities should be based on the whole of NZ society of which Te Tiriti is a part but not the whole.

Q24

Operationalising Priorities: How should the strategy for each national research Priority be set and how do we operationalise them?(See pages 30-33 of the Green Paper for additional information related to this question)

Operational priorities must be customised to the research. Thus astronomy the operational priority may be international collaboration while in the social science it may be local ethnic research priorities. There is thus probably no one operational priority that functions for all research.

Page 10: Section 4: Te Tiriti, mātauranga Māori, and Māori aspirations

Q25

Engagement: How should we engage with Māori and Treaty Partners?(See page 38 of the Green Paper for additional information related to this question)

Like all social groups Maori views need to be considered where appropriate but like all groups there is no one vision that fits all situations.

Q26

Mātauranga Māori: What are your thoughts on how to enable and protect mātauranga Māori in the research system? (See pages 38-39 of the Green Paper for additional information related to this question)

Matauranga must be protected but like all cultural knowledge it does not fit into all research which is the same for all other cultural knowledge.

Q27

Regionally based Māori knowledge hubs: What are your thoughts on regionally based Māori knowledge hubs?(See page 39 of the Green Paper for additional information related to this question)

If Moari wish to have regional based knowledge hubs that is surely something they will do if they wish.
