Hello,

I am the sole provider in my family, I have a wife and 3 kids, I earn 100k.

That income has to provide for all of us and pay our mortgage and rates and insurances. I have my own income protection.

Expenses are already going up like crazy with inflation and tax increases on fuel and income tax bracket creep.

This proposal would take yet more money out of my ever reducing purchasing power of my in hand wage.

I would need to cancel my own income protection are have a government provided one?

This should not be a forced tax/levy on people.

There should be some scheme such as income splitting for families who want to raise there children in the best way by having a parent stay at home.

Implement income splitting and fix the tax bracket creep and maybe I could afford to pay yet another levy.

Thanks,
Adam
