

Unit pricing is so important for all of us. A lot of people cannot make these calculations in their head and I'm guessing many aren't sure how even with a calculator.

What the unit of measure is is important too. For instance biscuits or sliced bread should be per unit not per 100g. A family is more likely to be looking at how many sandwiches or pieces of toast they'll get rather than by weight.