This becomes another opportunity for landlords to have access to something that they should be supplying as a human right - this should be at a cost to the landlord and should be with no increase to rent for a year.

There should also be responsibility by the landlord if a child in a rental property has increased admissions into hospital that relate to an unhealthy home.

Homeowners that are rural, rural and high deprivation should be our primary target.

The first priority should be a warm healthy home - we use more energy in heating water 1/3 of power bills, and we do in using washing machines, fridge freezer etc.

We should be supporting the transition to solar energy to reduce power bills at a meaningful level. Appliances will not achieve a big enough outcome.

The Chatham Islands are currently paying $1.39 per unit and only run the basics for a home to function.

This means that my $100 per week bill in Otautahi Christchurch if the rates of the Chathams were applied I would be paying $1000.00 for one weeks worth of power.

Whānau on this Chathams only use the most basic of appliances due to the cost of running - even the most energy saving products do not solve this issue.

For any community that has a power supplier that is not able to offer competitive pricing there should be funding available to have solar installed - this needs to include that ability to be off grid - this would then also include those remote rural communities that are not on a normal network.
